

ANNUAL MEETING.

Anna Timmerman to the platform who recited "If you were I and I were you." Miss Ida Timmerman is leader of this society.

Miss Inez McDonald responded for Bethany, the leader being Mrs. E. L. Hollingsworth.

Little Mamie Witt sang "Face to Face" when Bold Spring was called and Miss Florence Callison responded as leader of the band.

Little Martha Thurmond made a charming report from the Edgefield band and invited all the children to come to Edgefield and attend some of Miss Gladys Lyon's interesting band meetings.

Hardy's was represented by the leader, Mrs. Walter Stevens, and the report made by Anna Cater, a tiny little lady from that society.

Little Stevens Creek made their report through Miss Elizabeth Blocker and Mt. Zion was represented by Miss Marie Padgett, their leader.

Miss Eva Agner made the report from Red Oak Grove.

When Trenton was called and Miss Ruth Salter was announced as leader of this band, Mrs. Pritchard rose and asked the prayers of the women for Miss Salter. Dr. Lee led in a prayer for her speedy recovery.

The honor roll bands are Edgefield, Miss Gladys Lyon, leader; Bethany, Mrs. E. L. Hollingsworth; Republican, Mrs. W. G. Wells and Red Oak Grove, Miss Kathleen Kenrick. The bands were presented with the badges by Mr. O. Sheppard and the banner to society making largest gifts after reaching the standard of excellence went to Bethany and was presented to the leader, Mrs. E. L. Hollingsworth, by Mrs. J. L. Mims.

Miss Florence Mims gave an original story about the rainbow to the children and the rainbow charts distributed by the superintendent. Mrs. Tillman presided over the meeting.

Just before Mrs. Tillman made her report John Nixon and Carolyn Dorn sang a duet very sweetly.

A lovely scene was little Maizie Kemp dressed as a trained nurse at the Baptist Hospital standing by a white bed, representing the Lucile Chapman bed and she told how this bed was a memorial to little Lucile, the dear little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Chapman.

Mr. W. H. Nixon of Connie Maxwell Orphanage was present, having brought from the Orphanage a group of dear little girls and boys as follows: Pearl Geddings, Tempie Woodson, Ethel Pack, Norma and Juanita McCown, Naomi Ludlom, Paul Bees, Towns and Page Price. All of these came to the platform and were introduced, Mr. Nixon making a few remarks.

Mr. Orlando Sheppard was introduced and made a very pleasing impression and gave great encouragement to the women in a talk, "The Woman's Missionary Union as I see it."

A paper on Morris College prepared by Mrs. S. T. Adams was read by Mrs. Henry Medlock and the report on Personal Service prepared by Mrs. W. G. Wells, was read by Mrs. Walter Stevens.

The recess hour was spent at the dinner around a bountiful board where friend met friend in delightful conversation and consultation over the work nearest our hearts. Miss Lena Stevens, president of the society had done most of the preparation for entertainment in the union by correspondence, as her dear mother, Mrs. Ida Stevens, has been ill for some time and during the year she had lost a much loved brother. After the meeting, Mrs. Stevens remarked that the delegates who had been guests in her home had almost cured her, they had cheered her so. These same delegates said to the writer that they were so glad they had staid in Mrs. Stevens' home as it had been such a joy and "you know," they said, "they were kinfolks of dear Mrs. Mary Wates." Edgefield Woman's Missionary Union has a great heritage in these noble souls who have passed on before and whose example on earth we may do well to emulate.

The dinners on both days were abundant and well selected and prepared, and enjoyed by everybody.

The last afternoon session was called to order and the report on Margaret Fund made by Mrs. Walter Stevens, and Aged Ministers by Mrs. W. O. Whatley of Republican. Mrs. Whatley was introduced by the superintendent as the leader of a Mission Sunday School and also of the Girls' Auxiliary of Republican church. Mrs. Whatley made a fine report and has always been one of the best workers in our W. M. U. activities.

The invitation having come from the president of Modoc society, Mrs. G. C. McDaniel and from president of the third division, Mrs. J. M. Bussey, that our next associational meeting take place at Modoc, it was announced that this would be our next place of meeting the last week in August 1920.

Rev. W. H. Cannada was called to the platform the family including his lovely daughters, Edith and Nellie, having been introduced in the morning.

Mr. Cannada made a good talk on Edisto Academy, after which pledges amounting to $150 were taken to furnish dormitory rooms in the new building in course of erection, each room to cost $60. The societies not present, we are sure, will make up the deficit and enable us to furnish three rooms at Edisto this year.

Dr. R. G. Lee of Edgefield, associational organizer of the 75 Million Campaign made a most stirring and eloquent appeal to the women and all present to do their part in this stupendous undertaking. What he said will be finding fruit in the gifts of our women this year.

The women appreciated his presence and interest throughout both days of the meeting.

Rev. C. G. Wells of Mountain Creek who has been interested in Woman's work ever since he came into the association, and who had been with us for the day, was the only other minister present as the other pastors were in meetings. Mr. Wells was therefore the only one called upon for a ten minute talk, which he did very graciously. His presence was also highly appreciated.

Officers were elected as follows: Superintendent, Mrs. J. L. Mims; Secretary, Mrs. Prescott Lyon of Antioch; Treasurer, Miss Kellar Fair, Edgefield; Chairman Mission Study, Mrs. B. L. Mims, Edgefield; First division president, Mrs. W. B. Cogburn, Edgefield; Second division president, Mrs. Donald Smith, Antioch; Third division president, Mrs. J. M. Bussey, Parksville. Superintendent Sunbeam Societies, Mrs. Mamie Tillman; Young Woman's and Girls' Auxiliaries and Royal Ambassadors, Mrs. A. B. Carwile, Edgefield.

The meeting adjourned with prayer by Dr. R. G. Lee after resolutions of thanks had been read by Mrs. Mamie Tillman, Mrs. W. O. Whatley and Mrs. H. F. Cooper being the other members of the committee.

Altogether this was the best meeting ever held in the association notwithstanding the many hindrances in the way of the work during the past year.

Mr. J. K. Allen acted for the hospitality committee and made the announcements for the dinner hour and for those who staid over night.

One of the most impressive parts of the program was when Mrs. Fizer called on those present to say why they believed in the 75 Million Campaign. Many women arose and gave their reasons for believing in it and many who did not speak arose to their feet. As many lifted their hearts and voices in sentence prayers for the success of the work and preparation of the workers.

Since the meeting at Stevens Creek, one society has written us to hurry in getting an organizer for that church as the women are praying.

RED OAK GROVE

Mr. Courtland Lamb has returned to Atlanta after a pleasant vacation with his father, Mr. T. W. Lamb.

Messrs. James Hamilton and Press Doolittle have acted more wisely than the "Arkansas Traveller." They have put new roofs on their dwellings.

Mr. Bill Johnson has painted the new residence of Mr. D. C. Bussey and also Mr. Oscar Timmerman.

Mr. Jeff Sharpton and his pretty and interesting sister, Miss Sunie were among the representatives from Red Oak Grove at Stevens Creek last week.

Mr. Clyde Clegg was the guest of Miss Kathleen Kenrick last Monday.

DORN & MIMS

It is Safe—and Sane

"Never again," says Bill Guff, as he walked into the postoffice with a double jointed limp in his left leg and his head done up in a plaster of paris cast.

"Never again will you catch me out in a dark street with a pocket full of coin. I not only lost my money but the hold-up guys liked to croaked me." The bank is the safest, most convenient, logical and sensible place to keep money. Don't tempt things, and risk life and limb by carrying funds on your person. Put your money in the bank.
